Some Nice Words From Arkansas Gazette About a Hope Man

John Fleming, the Arkansas Gazette columnist, had this to say about a Hope man in last Sunday's Gazette (Nov. 11):

DETROIT—Arkansas Cabrito is a gourmet's delight. It proved a popular tidbit here when a score or more Arkansians invaded the Motor City in an effort to lure some tourists to the green, green hills of home.

Arkansas Cabrito came by its name when folks in the effete Northeast blanched and headed for the rest rooms when someone told them they were eating Arkansas goat meat. Cabrito, of course, is Spanish for goat. However, no one yet has been noted to pale when presented with the succulent cabrito.

Plugging Arkansas products in the hinterlands is not without its hazards. Take Charley Cross, for instance. Charley is a regional sales manager for Hamlin Products. He was way down east in Augusta, Me., on one occasion when he was called upon to cook some turkeys and Cornish hens. The timing was such that Charley couldn't wait for the normal thawing process so he filled the bathtub in his hotel room half full of warm water and dunked the fowls. This too would have been all right except for the fact that a maid came in, looked in the bathroom and ran screaming down the hall. She was certain she had stumbled into an ax murder.

Or take the case of Pod Rogers from Hope. Back in 1969, Pod delivered some big watermelons to San Diego for an Arkansas picnic during San Diego's 200th anniversary celebration. He saved a special melon to take up to his friend Glen Campbell in Hollywood. He parked his car near the studio and went into a cafe for something to eat. When he came out, the watermelon was gone. Pod called the Los Angeles police and reported the theft. Los Angeles Police Department desk sergeants got some odd calls but when Pod said someone had stolen his 139-pound watermelon he didn't get much cooperation. In fact, he was lucky that the men in the white coats didn't come for him.

But Pod Rogers is not a man to be lightly turned away and to steal an Arkansas watermelon was to him a most heinous type of crime. Pod called Hope and told them to ship him another big melon pronto. Then he called the Los Angeles Times and wound up with his picture (and the picture of the new watermelon) on the front page of the biggest newspaper in Southern California.

Cold Front Moves Into Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's going to be football weather this weekend. Instead of being in the 70s and 80s, temperatures during the day are taking a nosedive to the 50s.

The current seasonal temperatures were ushered into the state by a cold front Thursday which caused rain to be dumped on most of the state. Amounts of rain in excess of two inches were received in the southwest section of the state.

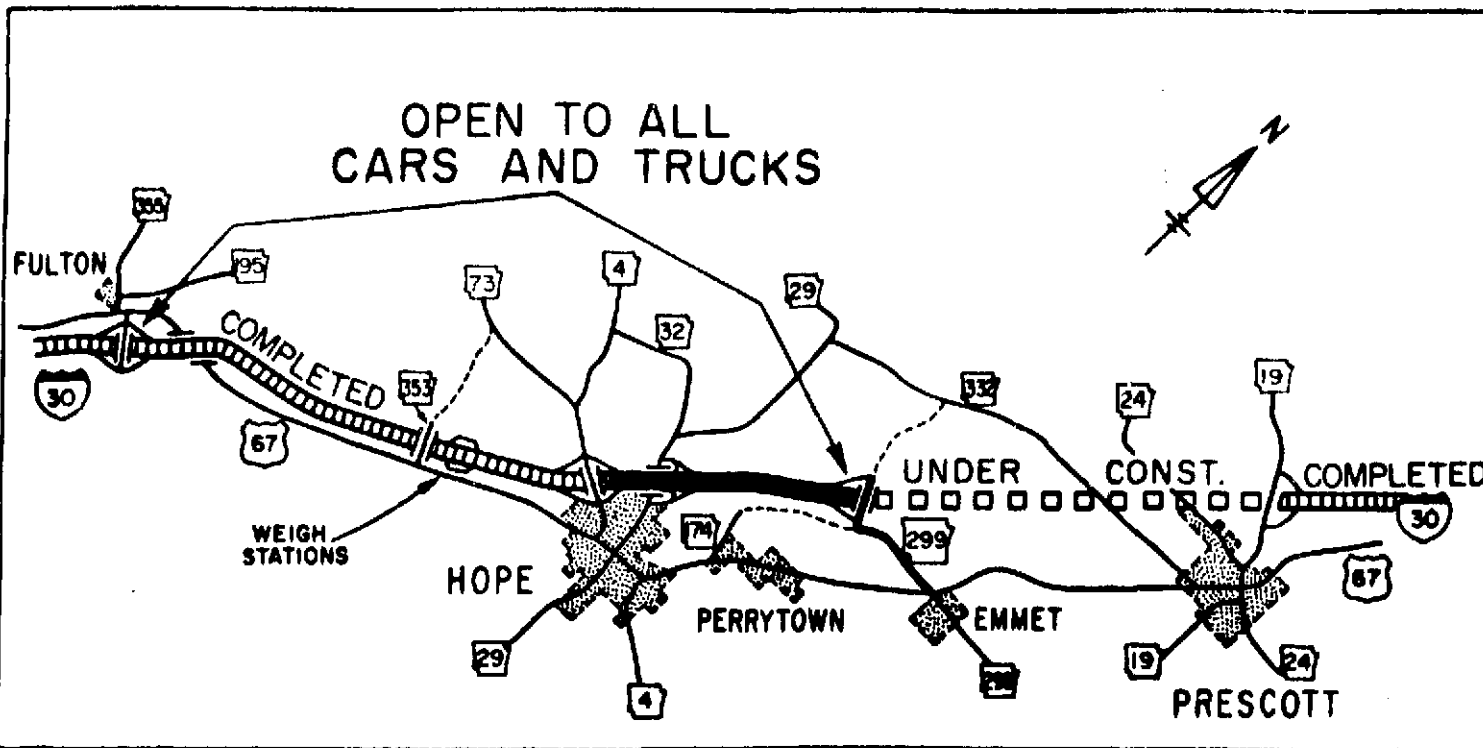

The forecast calls for clearing skies and sunshine in all sections of the state. The extended outlook through Tuesday predicts fair skies with mild days and cool nights.

Temperatures tonight will be in the low 20s to low 30s. The highs Saturday will be in the mid 30s to mid 60s.

The highs around the state Thursday ranged from 61 at Fayetteville to 70 at Texarkana and El Dorado.

Precipitation recorded during the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today included .03 of an inch at Fayetteville; .19 at Harrison; .71 at Jonesboro; .75 at Pine Bluff; .37 at Texarkana; 1.76 at El Dorado; .37 at Memphis and .80 at Little Rock.

I-30 From Hope to Emmet Opens on Tuesday

LITTLE ROCK (11-19) The Highway Department will open a 6.7-mile section of Interstate Route 30 from the junction of State Highway 4 to the Emmet Interchange east of Hope on Tuesday, November 23rd, at 10:00 A.M. With the completion of this section and the surfacing of State Highway 299, the new temporary connection route northeast of Hope, heavy truck traffic may now enter at Emmet or Fulton and utilize 19 additional miles of the new Interstate Freeway.

A ten-mile section from Emmet to Prescott is under construction and is not anticipated to be completed until the fall of 1972.

According to Highway Director Ward Goodman, the Hope Bypass will relieve the critical traffic congestion in Hope and has been rushed to completion in order to be placed in service prior to the Thanksgiving holiday traffic period.

Four prime contractors built the new modern freeway bypass facility at a total cost of $5,170,800 including right of way.

Construction supervision is being handled by John Tallant, the Highway Department District Engineer for the Hope District.

Despite Price Freeze Cost of Living Jumps

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today that the cost of living rose two-tenths of one per cent last month despite the price freeze, as a result of higher prices for 1972 automobiles, winter and fall clothing and shelter.

The increase was about half the average month-to-month increase that prevailed before the price freeze began Aug. 15. It compares with a three-tenths of one per cent increase in August and a two-tenths of one per cent increase in September.

The October increase puts the Bureau of Labor Statistics' Consumer Price Index 3.8 per cent above a year ago, the smallest 12-month change in more than 3½ years.

While prices crept upward despite the freeze, the Labor Department also said that average weekly earnings for private, nonfarm jobs declined two pennies to $129.11.

The increase in prices for October was slightly more than usual for this time of year. After taking seasonal factors into account, the Bureau of Labor Statistics figured the price rise at an adjusted one-tenth of one per cent increase. It said this was the smallest seasonally adjusted rise since April 1967.

The unadjusted figures showed that food prices declined in October by two-tenths of one per cent while cost of housing rose three-tenths of one per cent, apparel went up eight-tenths of one per cent and transportation rose seven-tenths of one per cent.

The price of new cars went up 3.7 per cent in October because of smaller discounts offered by dealers on 1972 model cars, the BLS said. Businessmen were allowed to charge higher prices during the freeze if it was their normal practice to do so at that time of year. However, the BLS said it had no way of determining whether the price increases it detected were legal or not.

The BLS said that higher prices for clothing and new cars "account for virtually all of the two-tenths of one per cent increase in October index."

However, it also said that the October index also includes many prices that are sampled only once every three months or less frequently, and which therefore might have risen before the freeze.

Jap Radicals Riot Over Okinawa

TOKYO (AP) — Radical students, attacking with fire bombs, burned down two restaurants in a central Tokyo park tonight, and a watching guard collapsed and died of a heart attack, police reported.

In protest against plans for a continued U.S. military presence on Okinawa, the radicals also staged scattered guerrilla attacks on police around Tokyo's capital.

Roaring flames from the wooden structure lit Tokyo's sky, not far from a tranquil fountain in Hibiya Park in front of the Imperial Palace.

As of 11:30 p.m., police said 15 policemen and 10 civilians, including demonstrators, had been injured in various skirmishes.

Other groups of students skirmished with police in the famed Ginza district nearby, setting fires on the streets and overturning cars. Police fought back with tear gas. About 500 students were arrested.

To Fight Inflation With or Without Cooperation of Labor, Nixon Warns

Senate Group Votes for Retroactive Pay

By JERRY BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Outvoted on the Pay Board, organized labor still may win approval for retroactive payment of raises held up during the recent wage-price freeze.

The Senate Banking Committee voted 14 to 0 Thursday to override the board and grant retroactive raises unless President Nixon rules them "unreasonably inconsistent" with guidelines for Phase 2 of his anti-inflation policy.

The House Banking Committee has approved a similar proposal.

The Pay Board, meanwhile, meets today to continue reviewing a new contract between the United Mine Workers and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

The contract provides for pay raises of up to 35 per cent over three years and a 100-per-cent increase in management's pension contributions. Board guidelines would limit pay increases to an average of 5.5 per cent a year.

The board heard arguments for and against the contract Wednesday and Thursday, but adjourned without reaching a decision.

"The adjournment was for the purpose of permitting the members of the board to give overnight consideration," a spokesman said.

President Nixon, was in Miami Beach, meanwhile, to address the annual AFL-CIO convention, whose 1,000 delegates have expressed strong opposition to pay guidelines for Phase 2.

They voted unanimously Thursday to have AFL-CIO President George Meany remain on the Pay Board but refuse to cooperate with wage rulings he considers unfair.

"If the President doesn't like the terms we've laid down he can kick us off," Meany said.

Meany said Nixon's anti-inflation program threatens to ruin the nation's economy.

The AFL-CIO chieftain said he was "delighted" by the Senate Banking Committee's vote on retroactive pay.

The committee's action was in the form of an amendment to a bill to extend presidential authority to control prices for an additional year, through April 1973. The bill also would give the president standby authority to control interest rates and dividends.

The measure still must be acted upon by both the House and Senate.

Formal Proposal to Devalue Dollar

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A formal proposal to devalue the dollar has been introduced in Congress by two lawmakers who say the Nixon administration is ready to take the step.

But the Treasury Department says the administration opposes the bill, introduced Thursday by Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., and Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y.

Both Reuss and Javits said Treasury Secretary John B. Connally let it be known Tuesday night in remarks before the New York Economic Club that the United States would be willing to negotiate a dollar devaluation to help settle the international monetary impasse.

They quoted this statement by Connally: "The United States is willing to talk about anything. Nothing is sacred."

But the Treasury responded with a brief statement, saying: "The administration does not support legislation introduced by Rep. Henry Reuss to raise the price of gold. Nothing in the remarks by Secretary Connally before the Economic Club of New York on Tuesday should be construed to reflect such support."

The bill would devalue the dollar by raising the price of gold, now officially set at $35 an ounce. The measure would allow the President to raise the price as much as 10 per cent.

One of the main arguments against seeking dollar devaluation to settle the monetary deadlock has been difficulty in getting such a proposal through Congress.

It was Reuss who proposed that Nixon refuse to redeem dollars for gold shortly before Nixon took that action Aug. 15. When Reuss made his proposal, the administration said it opposed his idea.

Since Aug. 15, when Nixon in effect removed the basis for the international monetary system by closing the gold window, currencies of most major countries have floated against each other without fixed exchange rates.

The Nixon administration wants this to lead to a realignment of currency values, with undervalued currencies rising higher in relation to the dollar.

His Personal Obligation, Says Nixon

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — President Nixon told a labor convention today he will continue his efforts to halt inflation whether or not he gets their cooperation.

Nixon told some 2,000 AFL-CIO delegates and others that he wanted continued labor participation in his wage-price control program.

"Whether we get that participation or not, it is my obligation as President of the United States to make this program to stop inflation succeed," Nixon said.

Leaders of the labor federation representing nearly 14 million workers in 117 unions Thursday said they would keep their members on Nixon's labor-industry public Pay Board but refuse to cooperate except when their votes were needed to win their own goals.

Nixon quoted from AFL-CIO President George Meany's sharply critical speech Thursday, in which Meany said, "If the President doesn't want our membership on the Pay Board on our terms, he knows what he can do."

Nixon said, "I know exactly what I'm going to do and I'm going to do it."

Nixon then said he would continue his anti-inflation program. "To the extent my powers permit, I intend to do exactly that."

Reaction from the labor audience was largely cool and Meany said when Nixon left the platform, "We will now proceed with Act 2."

Some in the audience laughed when Nixon said his 90-day wage-price freeze that it was "a remarkable success."

There were also some titters from the audience when he said, "If you don't believe that, go home and ask your wives who go to the grocery store."

Ex-Commander to Take Stand in My Lai Trial

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) —

Retired Brig. Gen. George H. Young, who was censured and stripped of his highest decorations as a result of the My Lai massacre, will be among the final four witnesses to testify at the court-martial of Col. Oran K. Henderson.

Henderson, who is accused of covering up the massacre, and Young are scheduled to testify when the trial resumes Monday after a three-day recess. Henderson will be the final witness.

Young, as the assistant commander of the Americal Division, allegedly gave Henderson the order to investigate helicopter pilots' reports that more than 100 unresisting civilians were killed in My Lai by Henderson's 11th Brigade troops during a sweep through the South Vietnamese hamlet in March 1968.

Henderson is charged in one count with disobeying that order.

Young, 51, once was charged with failure to obey regulations and dereliction of duty in keeping word of the massacre from reaching the Pentagon.

The charges against Young were dismissed. But last May he was informed by the secretary of the Army that he was being censured and that his distinguished Service Medal—the military's third highest decoration—was being revoked. He retired from the Army in August.

Kiwanis Sponsors Farm-City Week

The week of November 21st to 27th is Kiwanis Farm-City Week for the local club. Farm-City Week is a program of Kiwanis International observed sometime during the month of November wherever Kiwanis has Clubs.

At next Tuesday's meeting of the local club members have invited some of their farm friends to be their guests, and already more than thirty five of these friends have accepted.

Each year Farm-City week is a high point in the Kiwanis year, and the programs on the Tuesdays of this week each year are outstanding. This year is no exception. Dr. Orval Childs, head of the Agriculture Department of Southern State College of Magnolia is to be the guest speaker. Though his subject has not been announced, he is eminently qualified to speak on any facet of Agriculture, and his message will be in keeping with the Kiwanis Farm-City Week theme.

For a number of years Hope Star has presented a plaque to the Hempstead County Farm Family of the Year. This presentation has been made each year as a part of the program at the Kiwanis Farm-City Week meeting. This year B. N. Holt, Manager of the Hope-Hempstead County Chamber of Commerce, will, on behalf of Hope Star, present this plaque to the Johnny C. Burke family, the Hempstead County Farm Family of the Year for 1971.

As in previous years there will be free parking in downtown Hope all day on Tuesday of Farm-City Week, so announced Bill Butler, President of Hope Kiwanis Club.

Officials Want More Money From Counties

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Association of Arkansas Counties adopted a resolution Thursday to support and participate in the issuing of a proposed constitutional amendment that would grant counties greater home rule and revamp county government.

The proposed amendment would, among other things, reduce the number of persons serving on quorum courts but expand the authority of those courts, give county officials four-year terms and set aside the $5,000 annual limit on their salaries. The home-rule provision would allow counties to exercise all authority not specifically denied them by the General Assembly or state Constitution. The opposite is now true.

Premier Meir Schedules Visit to Washington

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Golda Meir will visit Washington soon to meet with President Nixon and other American officials, official sources said today.

Local newspapers reported that Mrs. Meir would make the trip in December. But officials said the date had not been fixed.

The newspapers also said Defense Minister Moshe Dayan would delay his visit to the United States because of Mrs. Meir's trip. He was to have made a fund-raising tour next week.

Mrs. Meir is expected to urge the Nixon administration to renew warplane deliveries to Israel. Washington halted these supplies during the summer when it was trying to set up an Egyptian-Israeli agreement to reopen the Suez Canal.

Official sources also reported that two Egyptian fighter planes buzzed an Israeli-bound tanker in the Red Sea last Friday. It was the first such incident since the 1967 war.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Barbara Stanwyck has been hospitalized for what a friend called a severe cold and exhaustion.

35 of 400 Told on Shoplifter

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Of 400 persons who observed a shoplifter in action, 35 reported the theft, results of an eight-month survey by a University of Utah professor showed.

Psychology Prof. Don Hartman conducted the study with a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice.

Using hidden cameras and students dressed as hippies, housewives and businessmen, Hartman observed 400 staged cases of shoplifting in several Salt Lake City stores.

People who observed the shoplifting were interviewed as they left the store.

Hartman's study found—one out of every 12 persons reported the theft.

Men report thefts more frequently than women.

Middle-aged persons report more frequently than young or older people.

Man on Mars Apparently Three Decades Away

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Many space experts believe it will still be two or three decades before man lands on Mars, despite successful probes of the red planet.

"It's so far forward in the future it tends to lose a bit of credibility," says Dr. Dennis E. Fielder, a member of the advanced planning team at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

Space experts have made a rough profile, based on current technology, of what a Mars mission would be like, but the schedule of such a voyage depends largely on the rate of funding for the space agency and the direction of the space program.

Under a crash program, "with unconstrained spending," said Fielder, an American could walk the surface of Mars as early as 1982 to 1985.

"It's a 'can-do' type of mission by then, but there would be a lot of hazard," he said.

A more conservative, but still rapid, approach would put men on Mars in the late 1980s, but this would still "penalize" the other programs in the space agency," Fielder said.

More likely, he said, man will go to Mars in a stair-step fashion, climbing upward on the technology developed from less

Human Mind Is Like an Overflowing Granary at Harvest Time

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — What a fine treasury the human mind is!

It is like an overflowing granary at harvest time, stuffed with the true gold of old memories. Some of those memories, grim or gruesome, have a nightmare quality that disturbs our sleep.

But time has such a soft way with us that most of us are more consoled by the past than troubled by it. After he has endured the high-water years of his life, the past means more to a man than the future. He lives in it more, and it comforts him more.

It was fun to call up the zoo on April Fool's Day and ask for Mr. Fox, Mr. Bear or Mr. Wolf. If you were feeling particularly daring, you might even call up the local cemetery and ask to speak to Mr. Phil Graves.

Every boy under 12 felt he was underprivileged if his mother didn't buy him a skull-cap with a whirling propeller on top.

ambitious goals.

Current thoughts on a mission to Mars call for a spaceship the size of a battleship—about 400 feet long—to be assembled in earth orbit. The main ship would include three nuclear engines that would drive the vessel away from the earth and set it streaking with steady pulsing thrusts toward Mars.

On board, a crew of 12 would live in a self-regenerating ecological system. They would process waste water for reuse. Their air would be cleansed and breathed again and again.

Food might be grown on board, with plants helping to supply oxygen for the crew.

After a voyage of more than 200 days, the craft would orbit Mars, and a landing craft would descend to the surface, Fielder said.

The landing crew would be prepared to stay several weeks or months.

Using techniques from the Apollo moon program, the landing crew would launch off Mars, rejoin the mother ship and rocket homeward.

After another crossing of more than 200 days, the Mars voyagers would arrive back at an earth orbit. They then would ride a shuttle down to their home planet.

Such a trip would take about 2½ years, says Fielder.

Much of the technology needed exists now only on paper.

There would be a need for workable, dependable nuclear rockets. They are already under study and some models have been tested.

Techniques for a regenerating living system would have to be developed.

A reusable spacecraft, the so-called shuttle, is now being designed and is a major program for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration late in this decade.

Campaign Spending Bill Delayed

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A quarrel over the meaning of a union-dues clause in one of three complex bills has prompted a delay in all House votes on federal campaign-spending reforms until after Thanksgiving.

House speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., faced with threats of repeated quorum calls while an embattled congressman campaigned for time to explain the clause Thursday, declared an intermission until Nov. 29, when the House is due back from a Thanksgiving recess scheduled to begin tonight.

It was a victory for Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill., who urged that leaders postpone the vote because he said the AFL-CIO is misrepresenting the intent of his proposal. His amendment is part of the House Administration Committee's reform bill.

The Crane amendment would restrict use of union dues for political purposes. In letters to congressmen Thursday, AFL-CIO spokesman Andrew J. Biemiller called the Crane amendment "patently antilabor."

Biemiller said if it is broadly interpreted, it "would prohibit all union activity financed by (union) treasury money, connected in any way with federal elections"

Crane insisted, however, that his amendment aims to curb "use of involuntarily raised money for political purposes." He said it contains nothing to prevent a union from raising money through voluntary collections.

Crane's clause is part of the bill sponsored by Administration Committee Chairman Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio. The Hays bill would allow spending six cents per constituent, or $12.3 million for all media purposes.

Granny Lists 29 Good Reasons to Beat Draft

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Helen Walker has 29 good reasons why she shouldn't serve in the armed forces.

Which is why she was amazed when her husband called out, "Hey, you're about to be drafted."

The morning mail contained a letter from Selective Service Board 140 in San Diego, addressed to "Mrs. Helen Walker." It opened with the salutation, "Dear Sir."

"You have provided evidence that you have a physical defect which you believe will disqualify you for service in the armed forces," the letter said.

"I sure do but I don't remember writing them about it," Mrs. Walker said, referring to her age and status.

The letter continued, "A letter from a physician furnishing information about this defect might spare you the necessity of reporting to the armed forces examining and entrance station for a determination of your acceptability for service."

Mrs. Walker, a resident of suburban Ribidoux, didn't think she'd be acceptable for these reasons:

She's a woman (1); she's married (2); she's 56 years old (3); she has nine children (13 through 29); and 17 grandchildren (4 through 12).

But she thought about it for a while and concluded that if she appeared for a physical she'd wind up discussing her condition with a few more people than the medical examiner.

"And I do hope they have something better than those skimpy towels the men wrap around themselves," she said, not ruling out the idea of reporting as ordered.

"Besides, it's been a year since my last physical," she said.

A newsman's telephone inquiry to the draft board brought a first response of: "We're about to draft a 56-year-old what?"

The call was transferred and a clerk said "It's not possible."

Two more transfers and one giggle later, Clara Yeoman, a clerk-typist, was on the phone.

"Somehow there's been a mixup," said Miss Yeoman.

"Tell her not to appear for a physical, but to write a letter explaining her—ah—condition."

A copy of a newspaper story about her condition was sent the draft board as proof of her ineligibility. The board asked her to please, please, forget all about it. She became downcast.

"Gee, that's too bad," Mrs. Walker said rejectedly. "The more I thought of it the more I had my heart set on being a pilot."

Desk Raiding to Be Stopped

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says its intelligence agents will stop raiding correspondents' desks in the Pentagon newsroom. That's what it said last time, too.

Reporters for Time magazine and the New York Daily News arrived at work Wednesday morning to find someone had rummaged through their desks and left a note which said: "An inspection of this office area by the Pentagon Counter-Intelligence Force revealed no violations of security regulations."

Daniel Z. Henkin, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, told newsmen several months ago that such checks would be stopped. A spokesman said Thursday that Henkin "was very distressed" about this week's check and it "will not happen again."

Reporters say the inspections give the Defense Department access to their notes and the names of their news sources.

May Delay Tax Cut Bill Indefinitely

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — With Republicans resisting a quick vote, the Senate is struggling through a partisan debate over using federal funds to finance presidential campaigns. The fight could delay President Nixon's tax-cut bill indefinitely.

In a key test Thursday, Democrats indicated they may have the votes to tack the campaign-fund provision onto the tax bill. By a 49-46 vote, they turned back a Republican effort to kill the amendment.

All 49 votes were cast by Democrats; three Democrats joined the Republicans in favoring the move.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, Republican spokesman on the tax bill, said he's still hoping for a quick vote. But Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said it appears the battle will go into next week.

Mansfield attempted to get agreement for a vote on the campaign provision by 5 p.m. today, which would have required unanimous consent. Several Republicans shouted objec-

After Thursday's initial test, Republicans made several attempts to hamstring or revise the plan. They lost. Mansfield accused the GOP of filibustering, and Republican Leader Hugh Scott promptly denied it.

"I would not be surprised if the Democrats pull it through because they smell the sweet, green odor of money," Scott said.

With the presidential election less than a year away, Democrats are $9.3 million in debt. The Republican party is well-heeled.

Democrats could be expected to use the $20.4 million the plan could provide next year if it becomes law. But Republicans said flatly their party would not use the government money in the 1972 campaign.

They called it a "slush fund," a "raid on the Treasury" and "a shakedown of the taxpayer."

Democrats responded that the reason the Republicans wouldn't use the fund is that Nixon would rather rely on private financing because he will then have $40 million to $50 million available.

The fund would be created by a decision of taxpayers to check a box on their tax returns designating $1-$2 for a couple—for campaign financing.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, Republican spokesman on the tax bill, said he's still hoping for a quick vote. But Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said it appears the battle will go into next week.

Annual Loyalty Dinner

DR. LORY HILDRETH

Members of First Baptist Church, in lieu of their regular Wednesday evening prayer service, met for their Annual Loyalty Dinner at the Coliseum where they heard Dr. Lory Hildreth, Pastor of First Baptist Church, Texarkana, Texas as he discussed Christian Stewardship.

The loyalty dinner is a high point in the Annual Stewardship Emphasis Month at First Baptist Church as the membership meets to count their blessings and evaluate their personal stewardship of time, talent, and resources.

C. R. "Dick" Moore, Chairman of the Stewardship Committee acted as Master of Ceremonies and introduced the various parts of the program, following the dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hart presented a medley of "Moon" songs after which Mrs. Hart sang as a devotion "The Holy City". She was accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Peterson, Jr., at the piano and David Chism on the trumpet. The theme of this year's Stewardship Emphasis is "Committed to Give as God Has Given to Us".

Dr. Hildreth in his opening remarks congratulated First Baptist Church for thinking BIG. The church adopted for 1972 the largest budget in its history — $135,000 of which $27,000 is for Mission Causes.

The speaker used as his Scripture text Matthew 16:21-26. He stated that there are two philosophies among church members, one group, the Uncommitted, saying Spare Thyself, and the Committed, whose theme is Give Thyself. There is a Divine Outlook in which God's children are totally committed to Him. None can say it's God's will that I do as little as I can. Stewardship is a Father-Son relationship with each doing all he can for the other. From the Human Outlook most think we can win the world by empty crosses. Jesus was committed totally to the Cross and man's salvation comes only through His

Only Woman on AFB Leads Busy Social Life

LAUGHLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Tex. (AP) — Sherri Watkins is 19, single and the only woman airman living at this Air Force base with 4,000 men.

"It's all right," she says, "but I miss—well, you know—having other girls to talk with."

"My social life has been pretty full, though," she adds. Sherri is a WAF, or member of Women in the Air Force.

"We're just like one big family here," she says. "I kind of wish there were some other WAFs here, though."

Fresh out of basic training, Sherri operates the base's duplicating facilities—the printers and other machines which turn out regulations, orders and other military publications.

Sherri, whose home is El Monte, Calif., joined the Air Force last August "as a challenge. I want to travel. I don't care where."

Her first assignment brought her here—one of two bases in the United States that the Air Force considers semiremote.

"My mother and sister think I'm pretty lucky—especially my mother," Sherri said. "There are lots of civilian women who work on base and there is only one other WAF besides me. But she is married and lives in town. I'm out here alone—with all these men," she said.

Sherri works with four men. "They don't mind, she said."

But an Air Force spokesman said Sherri won't be alone much longer.

A contingent of some 50 WAFs is due here in December.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Too Much Gadding

Dear Helen: What's wrong with young parents today? They have to be on the go constantly!

Our son and daughter-in-law belong to every club, take in every party, drink to excess, try to be socialites, and the heck with their children. He calls it "upward mobility." Says he has to meet the right people to get ahead, and she must golf and drink cocktails with their wives during the day.

The children suffer. They never know who their next sitter will be. I doubt that they even really know their parents. They're high-strung and hard to manage. This causes problems the few times their parents are home—the adults are worn out, possibly hung over, and the kids "drive them batty."

I'm not saying ALL parents are like this, but most of the ones I meet in our son's crowd are. Tell me, Helen, why does this type have children?—UTTERLY DISGUSTED GRANDPARENTS.

Dear Grandparents: ...Possibly because the "Country Club Image" has always been: successful executive-type husband, charming wife, show-place home, and a couple of children who will grow up to marry offspring of other country clubbers.

...But the picture is changing, for these neglected "rich kids" often hit the road early nowadays, or drop out and join communes where they feel "together," even if they haven't much else.

also add a not-too-delicate aroma.

We used to get around this by inviting my parents to our home. As they had an apartment, it was handier, anyway. But now they've bought a new home about 100 miles from us, and they expect us to visit them overnight.

We've been very close to Mom and Dad. In every other way, they're wonderful! But even the children had started noticing the dirt in the apartment—especially in the bathroom.

Hot can I tell Mom without hurting her, and would it do any good? Can a woman in her 50s change the housekeeping habits of years?—DAUGHTER IN A DILEMMA

Dear Daughter: Your mother knows she isn't a good housekeeper, so "telling her" wouldn't solve anything. I'd suggest that you quietly clean what you can during your visits, and ignore the rest. A little dirt won't hurt you.—H.

Dear Helen: Here's a tip for some of your tight readers: Try living life as a gift instead of a job to be done right. It feels better that way.—GUSSIE

Thanks! I needed that—too.—H.

With his genius for publicity the late Ely Culbertson wrote about a play which he called the "Coup without a name." Modernists have named it the "Scissors Coup" since it is designed to cut enemy communications.

Today's hand is taken from the encyclopedia of bridge and illustrates the play. South is very happy with his four-heart contract when he sees the dummy. If East plays like a friend he will cash two diamonds and shift to a club whereupon South will lose to the ace of hearts and take the rest of the tricks.

Unfortunately for South's peace of mind East wins the first diamond and makes the unfriendly shift to the three of clubs.

South can visualize East's nasty plan and sees one way to foil the dastardly villain. Instead of playing trumps he leads a spade to dummy's ace and a second spade to his king. Then he leads his nine of spades and breathes a sigh of relief when West plays low. Now he discards dummy's last diamond. East wins the trick but can't put his partner in.

This play is really a form of the loser-on-loser play but the name scissors coup is far more elegant.

Razorbacks Accept Bid to the Liberty Bowl

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks voted Thursday to accept a bid to play in the Liberty Bowl at Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 20 if the Porkers do not play in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

The announcement was made by A. F. Dudley, executive director of the Liberty Bowl, and George Cole, athletic director at Arkansas.

Arkansas has a mathematical chance to host the Cotton Bowl if the Razorbacks defeat Texas Tech Saturday and Texas A&M defeats Texas on Thanksgiving.

Texas is a half game ahead of the Razorbacks in the Southwest Conference standings. The SWC champion is traditionally the host team in the Cotton Bowl.

"The Liberty Bowl is a natural for us," said Coach Frank Broyles. "We receive outstanding support in that area and I am anxious for the Razorbacks to play before our fans there. The game will be televised nationally and I am convinced the University of Arkansas will receive tremendous exposure by its participation in the Liberty Bowl."

It was reported Monday that

Arkansas might receive a bid to the Liberty Bowl if it defeats Texas Tech Saturday.

It was also reported that Tennessee would be extended an invitation provided the Volunteers defeat Kentucky Saturday.

The site of the Liberty Bowl holds slightly more than 50,000 persons. Based on a full house, Arkansas and Tennessee would receive $211,000 each for the game. Arkansas would keep $125,000 and the remainder would be divided equally among the Southwest Conference members.

Rates Porks Juniors Take Pair Over Tech by 11 Pts.

By HARRY KING

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Texas Tech has knocked Arkansas out of the bowl picture twice in the past five years and has a chance to play the spoiler again Saturday.

In 1966, Arkansas could have earned a trip to the Cotton Bowl with a victory over the Red Raiders. Instead, Tech whipped the Razorbacks 21-16 and Arkansas stayed in Fayetteville during the bowl season.

In 1967, the Razorbacks were in line for a Liberty Bowl bid but lost out when they dropped a 31-27 decision to Tech.

Arkansas and Tech meet again Saturday at Fayetteville and once again the Razorbacks are solidly in the bowl picture. A victory over Tech coupled with a Texas A&M triumph over Texas would put the Razorbacks in the Cotton Bowl. Even if the Longhorns whip the Aggies, the Razorbacks are reported to be headed for the Liberty Bowl if they beat the Raiders.

Saturday's game pits the top defense in the Southwest Conference against the best offense and the most effective pass defense against the best passer.

Tech has given up an average of 245.6 yards a game while posting a 4-6 record. Arkansas has averaged 455.3 yards a game in a 7-2-1 season.

Tech's pass defense has permitted an average of 63.4 yards a game and allowed only two touchdowns passes. Tech Coach Jim Carlen says the Raiders' secondary features four solid football players who work well as a unit. Arkansas quarterback Joe Ferguson has completed 159 of 268 passes for 2,189 yards and 11 touchdowns and is fourth in the nation in total offense.

Carlen says Tech has been having trouble offensively because of a lack of speed. However, if Arkansas continues to give away points as it has the past few weeks the Raiders can make it a long afternoon. Arkansas' defense did not allow a touchdown last week against SMU and may be the key against Tech.

ARKANSAS 21, TECH 10. Arkansas Tech risks its No. 1 NAIA ranking and a spot in the NAIA playoffs against unbeaten Arkansas A&M Saturday at Pine Bluff.

The Wonder Boys clinched the AIC title last week with an impressive victory over Harding. AM&N has won five in a row since dropping a four-point decision to Grambling.

Tech's Wishbone-T may be too much for the Golden Lions.

ARK. TECH 21, ARK. AM&N 15.

Last week's percentage was .643, lowering the season's percentage to .776.

Here are other predictions involving Arkansas college teams:

Wins Billiard Championship

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Gerry Glenn of the New York Athletic Club knocked off his closest rival Thursday to win the National Invitational Three-Cushion Billiards Championship for the fifth time in seven years.

Good steady play by the girls and fast breaking on offense by the boys brought Hope's two junior high teams a double win in Jones Field House last night, both victories over the Stamps Yellowjackets.

Taking a lopsided halftime, 19-4, lead, the Kittycats went on to win easily, 32-16, while the Bobkittens belted their foes, 45-26, for their first win under new head coach Kenny Allen.

Only 17 seconds into the first game, Pogo Griffin hit a jump shot that put the Kittycats in front, 2-0, and after teammates Gail East and Sue Henley added points, the Hope squad was never threatened again.

Two field goals and a pair of charity shots put the Kittycats in front, 11-3, while moving into the second quarter of play and with Hope getting the tipoff, East hit six points and then Griffin gave the home team a 19-4 halftime advantage, sinking two free throws with 13 seconds left on the clock.

Stamps hit the first four points of the second half, but that was about it as East and Griffin, along with Henley pulled the Kittycats farther ahead and after moving into the fourth and final period the subs saw their share of playing time. Hope's last score came with a little over a minute left when Sherry Arnold hit a layup after the ball had been taken away from Stamps.

Much credit must be given to the defensive crew of Melissa Reece, Janie York, and Bonnie Roy, while Griffin and East took top scoring honors with 14 and 12

Rain Forces Hogs Indoors for Practice

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A cold rain Thursday forced the Arkansas Razorbacks to hold practice inside Barnhill Field House.

Coach Frank Broyles said the defensive unit went through a light signal drill in sweat clothes.

"I am very proud of the defense and have thought they've done a good job for us all year," said Broyles.

The Razorbacks are leading the Southwest Conference in holding their opposition to an average of 130.4 yards rushing per game.

The offense worked Thursday on play timing.

Broyles said that quarterback Joe Ferguson was better Thursday and should be ready for Saturday's game against Texas Tech. Ferguson suffered a bruised shoulder last week in the SMU game.

Ohio State Leads in Game Attendance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Despite three losses going into its football game Saturday at Michigan, Ohio State has locked up the national college attendance title for the 14th straight season.

The Buckeyes averaged 84,450 and drew a record 506,699 for six home games in Ohio Stadium. That marks the 20th time in the last 21 years that Ohio State has led the nation in attendance.

Second-place Michigan, with a 76,727 average, would fall short even with an anticipated capacity crowd of 101,000 in Michigan Stadium for the final game against Ohio State.

Glenn defeated Chet Krizek of Milwaukee, Wis., 50-40 in the final round to finish with a 9-0 record in the round-robin tour-points respectively.

Switching now to the second contest, Hope started off on a quick jump, 8-0, behind the shooting of Marshall Scott and James Harris, and then had to tighten up and hold their margin late in the initial period.

Stamps began cutting the lead and had forged to within one, 9-8, before the Bobkittens went into the second quarter leading, 11-8, and now scoring quickly.

Using up large amounts of time between scoring plays, both teams could only total out 13 points in the second quarter as Hope held a 19-13, halftime advantage.

However, coming out in the third period, things started changing with the Kittens using the shooting of Harris and some good defensive ball to sweep out in front, 33-19, while moving into fourth period play.

With a lot of the reserves now coming in, they too did good with the ball as starters Harris, Mike Hobson, and reserve Dickie Willis put the final points on the board, widening the margin every time.

Leading scorers for Hope were Harris with 24 points, Scott hitting eight, and Hobson netting six.

Don't forget the Powder Puff football game Saturday night when the Junior girls face the Seniors in a game filled with excitement. A great halftime show is expected along with the game.

Senior coach Lynn Norton says his team has confidence they can win and avenge last year's loss, and also thinks that everyone will be ready and will know the plays and blocks.

Wadkins Has Eyes Raised in Azalea

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer
WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Lanny Wadkins raised a lot of skeptical eyebrows when he predicted a glowing future for himself in the tough world of pro golf—but the 21-year-old rookie just may have the game to back up his claims.

The stocky youngster, a former National Amateur champion and one of the most highly-touted amateurs since Jack Nicklaus turned pro, stormed into a share of the first-round lead in the $35,000 Azalea Open Thursday with a sparkling, seven-under-par 64.

"Every time I drew it back, I seemed to be hitting it right at the pin," said the former Wake Forest student who got his approved players card from the PGA school only a month ago.

He needed only 26 puts, one-putting the last six greens, as he tied four regular Herb Hooper, a four-year veteran who is fighting for a spot in the top 60 money winners to secure his 1972 exemption.

Buck Adams, a club pro from Pinehurst, N.C., was next at 65 with balding veteran Earl Fennell and Len Thompson next at 66. Thompson, who was playing in his first round as a pro, is another rookie and a one-time teammate of Wadkins at Wake Forest.

Still another Wake Forest man, amateur Jim Simons, headed the group at 67. The others were Allen Miller, Jim Dent, Paul Bondeson, Paul Moran, Ted Hayes and Tommy Sanderson.

Tom Weiskopf, the only one of the top 25 money winners who is competing in this satellite event, was far back with a 71.

There were a lot of "oh, yeahs?" when the amateur Wadkins said earlier this year. "On a given day, I can beat any player on the tour."

And the eyebrows went even higher when he announced a goal for his first full year of competition as "four or five wins and $200,000."

But he finished a solid 13th as an amateur in the U.S. Open, then won $3,378—his first professional check—with a ninth place finish in the Sahara Invitational three weeks ago.

Hooper, who needs about $16,000 more in winnings to insure his exempt spot for next year, birdied all four of the par five holes after chipping close, made two other birdie putts in the 12-15 foot range and hit another iron to within four feet. He didn't have a bogey.

Dallas, 49ers and Miami Are Picked

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Miami, Dallas, San Francisco.

Those teams would seem to be the likely winners of the three key games on Sunday's National Football League program—each of which will determine division leadership.

The Dolphins, with a half-game lead over Baltimore in American Conference East, meet the Colts in Miami. The Cowboys, trailing Washington by a half-game in National Conference East, meet the Redskins at Washington. The 49ers, a half-game up on Los Angeles in NFC West, meet the Rams in Los Angeles.

The Cowboys and Redskins and 49ers and Rams will be meeting for the last time this season, so their games could go a long way toward settling the respective division titles. The Dolphins and Colts go at each other again Dec. 11.

Here are all the picks, cautioning that last week's record was 7-6:

Miami 28, Baltimore 17—The Dolphins, with Bob Griese throwing to Paul Warfield and handling off to Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick, appear to have too many weapons for the Colts to contain even with their outstanding defense.

Dallas 24, Washington 10—The Cowboys have been more consistent with Roger Staubach at quarterback and the Redskins appear to be bankrupt offensively with running backs Larry Brown and Charley Harroway the latest casualties.

San Francisco 31, Los Angeles 21—John Brodie has been throwing too many interceptions for the 49ers, but with two defensive backs—Jimmy Johnson and Mel Phillips—hobbled, the veteran San Francisco quarterback should get the job done.

Minnesota 17, New Orleans 7—The Vikings don't let many teams score, and should be able to pick at the Saints enough to protect their one-game lead in NFC Central.

Oakland 34, San Diego 24—The Chargers can move the ball against any one, but almost any one can move it against the Chargers for even more yardage. The AFC West leading Raiders have that potential.

Chicago 21, Detroit 13—Dick Butkus won't catch any passes this week but Dick Gordon will. The Lions seem to be having trouble getting untracked since the death of Chuck Hughes.

Kansas City 38, Denver 14—Lou Saban quit as the Broncos' coach this week—and probably knew what he was doing. Denver is virtually out of people to play.

St. Louis 24, Philadelphia 17—The Eagles have been playing good ball since Ed Khayat took over as coach but the Cardinals are a more solid outfit.

Pittsburgh 28, New York Giants 27—Could go either way but the hunch here is that Terry Bradshaw will be able to puncture the Giants' pass defense.

Cleveland 27, New England 24—The Browns haven't exactly been an explosive unit, but they are stronger defensively than the Patriots and should be able to hold them off.

Cincinnati 31, Houston 20—The Bengals now have Virgil Carter back at quarterback.

New York Jets 24, Buffalo 21—The Jets don't have Joe Namath back at quarterback but they don't need him against

Powder Puff Game Saturday

For the eighth consecutive year, HHS females will turn the tables on the males as they take to the field for the annual Powder Puff football game this Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock in Hammons Stadium.

Admission will be $1 for students and $1.50 for adults. This is the Student Council's largest money-making project.

Junior girls will take on the seniors in a battle to the death. Providing the spirit for the juniors will be cheerleaders Craig Lance, Danny Joyce, Buddy Ingram, and Robie Boyd.

Seniors will be backed by Ray Wheelington, Tommy Miller, Kenneth Ellis, and Danny Boyette.

Performing for halftime enjoyment will be junior majorettes Ricky Brown, Randy Bobo, Wade Harris, and Mike Waters.

Also twirling will be seniors Steve Harris, David Sanders, Bubba Powers, and Nicky Spellman.

Beauties will be crowned at halftime. These are Mike Huckabee, junior, and Tommy Frazier, senior.

Junior coaches Mike Downs, Melvin Weston, and Ricky Hart will attempt to shape up HHS lovelies into brawny beauties.

Senior coaches include Lynn Norton, Ralph Martin, and Rusty Quillin.

This year a new dimension will be added to the game. Senior and sophomore boys will band together to form a pep squad for the senior team, and the juniors and freshmen for the junior girls.

Both Hogs, Tech Have Stake in Final Game

By HARRY KING

Associated Press Writer

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Both Arkansas and Texas Tech will have something at stake Saturday at Fayetteville in the regular season final for both teams.

The Razorbacks are risking their hopes for a Southwest Conference title and a bowl bid.

Tech is putting the reputation of its pass defense on the line against one of the best passers in the country, Joe Ferguson.

Arkansas is 4-1-1 in the SWC and would be assured of no worse than a second place finish in the conference with a victory over the Raiders.

In fact, the Razorbacks would go to the Cotton Bowl if they beat Tech and Texas loses or ties Texas A&M on Thanksgiving Day. Even if Texas returns to the Cotton Bowl for a fourth straight year, the Razorbacks are in line for a Liberty Bowl bid with a victory Saturday.

Tech's pass defense — featuring four two-year lettermen — climbed to the top of the NCAA statistics this week after holding Baylor to one completion in 12 attempts last week. Tech has given up an average of only 63.4 yards a game through the air.

Grid Bowl Pictures Fairly Clear

Anyone coveting Notre Dame for a post-season bowl game, forget it. The Fighting Irish aren't interested—honest, fellows!

Notre Dame, one of the glamor names in college football, says it will be one of the missing names when the bowls hold their annual bash on New Year's Day.

Coach Ara Parseghian announced Thursday the team voted to sit this one out. A "sounding-out" of 90 players produced a vote of 2-to-1 against bowl participation, he said.

Upset winners over Texas last year in the Cotton Bowl, Notre Dame appeared to have a shot again at the Jan. 1 classic in Dallas or a possible berth in the Gator Bowl after winning eight of nine games.

But despite their lofty No. 7 status in the polls, the Fighting Irish did come perilously close to losing some games and were soundly beaten 28-14 by Southern California.

Notre Dame's decision opens some interesting bowl possibilities, one of them the Cotton where Penn State could meet Texas. The undefeated Nittany Lions appear to be in line for that one since the Orange and Sugar bowls might already be sewed up. It's reported that top-ranked Nebraska and Alabama's fourth-rated powerhouse will clash in the Orange Bowl while second-ranked Oklahoma and No. 5 Auburn are choices for the Sugar.

The Notre Dame withdrawal from the bowl picture brought "no comment" from Penn State Joe Paterno, always reluctant to talk over such matters before the regular season's over.

"I have not talked to my squad about a bowl, the only thing we are concerned about now is Pitt," said Paterno, whose sixth-ranked squad meets the Panthers Saturday.

The Rose Bowl, with Stanford and Michigan apparent shoosins, nevertheless might be upset by a legal monkey wrench. The possibility exists that California could sneak in ahead of Stanford, if the Golden Bears (1) upset the Indians Saturday and (2) win their court battle protesting their NCAA probation this season.

According to sources some other bowls will look this way: Georgia vs. North Carolina in the Gator; Colorado vs. Houston in the Bluebonnet; Tennessee vs. Arkansas in the Liberty; Arizona State vs. Florida State in the Fiesta; Toledo vs. Richmond or William & Mary in the Tangerine and Air Force vs. Mississippi in the Peach.

ASKS FOR BETTER SANITATION IN POULTRY PLANTS
By DON KENDALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department claims at least two-thirds of 68 poultry plants found by government investigators a year ago to be operating under doubtful sanitary conditions are stepping into line.

The remainder, however, still were described as needing much further improvement. Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who originally directed the Government Accounting Office to check the plants, disclosed Wednesday current status reports on each.

Those reports, provided by the Consumer and Marketing Service in USDA, gave at least 48 of the plants plus marks for improving sanitation and compliance with federal inspection rules. In a report issued Tuesday by GAO, investigators said they found "unacceptable" sanitation in virtually every one of the 68 plants checked in a survey beginning last fall.

The improved ratings by USDA, which also claims a current reorganization of inspection procedures will solve many of the problems, did not deter Ribicoff from sniping at the system.

The GAO survey, he said, pointed out sanitation violations in plants which produce nearly 20 per cent of the nation's poultry.

"I am confident," Ribicoff said, "that unless something is done to change our present regulatory system, a GAO report in two more years will uncover the same deplorable conditions once again."

Oh LORD, OUR GOD,

... give us hearts of gratitude on this Thanksgiving Day. May the dignity and the solemnity of the occasion of Thanksgiving warm our hearts as individuals, as families, as nations. As we express gratitude for the favors of mercy, may we be conscious of the fact... they all come from God. May we know the full meaning of historic Plymouth landing. Let us be reminded anew that freedom began there... and to worship God according to the dictates of our own hearts was guaranteed when the Pilgrim Fathers stepped ashore. Then, let us not fail to humbly recognize God as the Giver of life,—the Provider of all goods,—and the Savior of the souls of men... AMEN

So They May See - Exodus 22:1-13 - So They May Hear

IF A MAN shall steal an ox, or a sheep, and kill it, or sell it; he shall restore five oxen for an ox, and four sheep for a sheep.

2. If a thief be found breaking up, and be smitten that he die, there shall no blood be shed for him.

3. If the sun be risen upon him, there shall be blood shed for him; for he should make full restitution; if he have nothing, then he shall be sold for his theft.

4. If the theft be certainly found in his hand alive, whether it be ox, or ass, or sheep; he shall restore double.

5. If a man shall cause a field or vineyard to be eaten, and shall put in his beast, and shall feed in another man's field; of the best of his own field, and of the best of his own vineyard, shall he make restitution.

6. If fire break out, and catch in thorns, so that the stacks of corn, or the standing corn, or the field, be consumed therewith; he that kindled the fire shall surely make restitution.

7. If a man shall deliver unto his neighbour money or stuff to keep, and it be stolen out of the man's house; if the thief be found, let him pay double.

IF THE THIEF be not found, then the master of the house shall be brought unto the judges, to see whether he have put his hand unto his neighbour's goods.

9. For all manner of trespass, whether it be for ox, for ass, for sheep, for raiment, or for any manner of lost thing, which another challengeth to be his, the cause of both parties shall come before the judges; and whom the judges shall condemn, he shall pay double unto his neighbour.

10. If a man deliver unto his neighbour an ass, or an ox, or a sheep, or any beast, to keep; and it die, or be hurt, or driven away, no man seeing it:

11. Then shall an oath of the Lord be between them both, that he hath not put his hand unto his neighbour's goods; and the owner of it shall accept thereof, and he shall not make it good.

12. And if it be stolen from him, he shall make restitution unto the owner thereof.

13. If it be torn in pieces, then let him bring it for witness, and he shall not make good that which was torn.
